OBITUARY.

The death took place on Wednesday, June 22nd, of Sarah A. Johnson, aged seventy years, who passed away at the farm at Spring-side, north-west of Didsbury, as the result of a stroke which she received about a couple of weeks ago. The funeral takes place tomorrow (Friday) from the house at two o'clock. Interment in Didsbury cemetery.

Mrs. Johnson has lived in this district about five years, coming here from Bottrell. Her husband died in 1912.

S.A. SILVER BAND TO VISIT DIDSBURY.

The Salvation Army (Calgary) Citadel Silver Band will visit Didsbury on Saturday, July 2nd, at four p.m., and will give a concert from the bandstand. The band under the leadership of Bandmaster E. Hackett is one of the best combinations of its kind in the west, and is making a trip north endeavoring to touch as many towns as possible, returning to Calgary late Sunday evening.

It is to be hoped that a large number of our residents will welcome this band.

Campaign Now on

The campaign for the signing of the Second Series of Wheat Pool contracts is under way and meeting with excellent success. Every district is being organized and it is planned to have every grain producer canvassed.

The Holland Canada Mortgage Company, with head office in Winnipeg, have signed a Second Series Wheat Pool contract covering about 25,000 acres of Alberta farm land, one-third of which is in wheat. The management of this company expressed complete satisfaction with the operation of the Wheat Pool since its inception.

L. McKinnon, well-known Southern Alberta old-timer, has signed a Second Series Wheat Pool contract, covering about 2,700 acres of land at Dalemead. The L. K. Ranch, of which Mr. McKinnon is president, has placed over 4,500 acres under a Second Series contract. The L. K. has land at Dalemead, Crowfoot, Bassano and Queenstown.

The Bassano Board of Trade passed a resolution expressing its favorable opinion of the principles involved in the co-operative marketing of wheat and other grains and its willingness to assist in the drive for the signing of the Second Series of Wheat Pool contracts.

The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool has already obtained a sign-up of close to seven million acres for the Second Series contracts. This is over 50 per cent of the sign-up of the First Series contracts.

Reports from all over Alberta regarding the progress of the Wheat Pool Second Series membership drive are very encouraging.

WAR DECLARED ON WOLVES AND COYOTES

Government Offers Bounty on Hides and Will Regulate Marketing

Arrangements have been made whereby the provincial government will pay bounties on wolf and coyote pelts and the following scale of values has been set: The amounts will be payable only upon animals which have been killed within the province. For the pelts of adult male timber wolves the government will pay $10 each and for the pelts of adult female timber wolves the amount will be $20. For adult prairie wolves taken between April 30 and September 1 the amount will be $2 and for wolf pups taken before July 1 the amount will be $2.

Upon payment of bounty on any prairie wolf or wolf pup, the pelt shall become the property of the government and will be destroyed. As bounty can only be paid on prairie wolves taken during the summer months, and as the pelt in the summer is valueless, it is hoped that the bounty will be an incentive to farmers to take coyotes at that time.

Timber wolf pelts on which bounty is paid shall be sold through the government fur marketing service, and the proceeds, less selling commission, will be paid to the person entitled to bounty.

Must Be Intact

In order to secure bounty, the pelt, including the scalp of each wolf upon which bounty is claimed, must be produced intact to the inspector by the person claiming the bounty. Where the bounty is claimed on wolf pups the pelt with the head attached must be produced in each case.

Game guardians, members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and postmasters are empowered to act as inspectors. A fee of 50 cents is paid to the inspector for each pelt inspected. This fee is paid by the government and not by the person applying for bounty.

Believes in Aviation Future

Exploration Has Succumbed to Modern Methods Says Amundsen

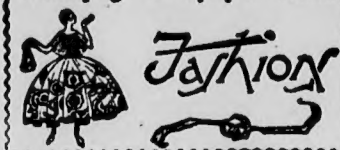

Even exploration, the oldest urge of mankind has succumbed to the expediency of modern methods of travel, and in aviation lies the future discovery of new lands declared Captain Roald Amundsen of polar fame before sailing from Vancouver for Japan.

For this reason Captain Amundsen has abandoned any plans for further exploration and will content himself for the present with re-telling of his exploits. His present journey to Japan is for the purpose of delivering a series of lectures in the principal Japanese centres.

"Exploring will all be done from the air in future," declared Captain Amundsen. "I am too old to take up flying and I do not intend to start anything which I cannot carry out myself. My trip on the Norge was a mistake. Commander Nobile was a flier. I am an explorer. We did not see things alike."

"My exploring days are now finished and I prefer to leave while they were at a zenith. I have been following trails since I was 15 and I am content to leave it to the younger generation. My travels from now on into the northern country will be with a gun and a rod," he said. He also stated he was particularly interested in the Northern part of Canada above Athabasca and he hoped to be able to traverse the trails in that part again.

Mons Pays Tribute to Men Who Brought Relief to City

Heartfelt recognition of what the Canadian soldiers had done in capturing the city of Mons, where the final shot in the war was fired and the city restored to its freedom after 50 months of German occupation, was given by Burgomaster Malstrau, of Mons, at the unveiling of the plaque in commemoration of the historic entry of the Canadian corps into the city.

The Burgomaster replied on behalf of the city to the eloquent address of Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, speaker of the Canadian House of Commons, and to tributes paid by others taking part in the ceremony.

Burgomaster Malstrau paid glowing praise to the heroism of the Canadians and spoke of the deep gratitude of the people of Mons for the relief they had brought to the city. As a special mark of recognition, the Burgomaster announced that the following had been made honorary citizens of Mons:

General Sir Henry E. Horne, Commander of the First Army in whose territory the Canadians operated; Lieut-General Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian corps; Major-General F. O. W. Loomis, in command of the third Canadian Division, and Brig-General J. A. Clark, who was in command of the seventh Canadian Brigade, whose troops were the first to enter Mons. The latter had also been made a member of the Mons Bar, the Burgomaster said.

For Burns and Scalds.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will take the fire out of a burn or scald. It should be at hand in every kitchen so that it may be available at any time. There is no preparation required. Just apply the oil to the burn or scald and the pain will abate and in a short time cease altogether.

Making Concrete Lighter

"Gassing" concrete to give it added lightness is a novel idea reported from Sweden. While the concrete, a mixture of sand, gravel, and cement, is still soft, gas is introduced into the mixture. This has the same effect on the concrete as yeast has on bread, filling it with small holes. The concrete produced is just as strong as the ordinary product, but much lighter.

Life Of Early Canadian Settlers

Primitive Life of First Settlers in Upper Canada

In this jubilee year one may contrast the lot of the immigrant today with his predecessors in old Canada. After the U. E. Loyalists, who had their own troubles, the earliest settlers had a long voyage across the Atlantic in a sailing vessel, and travelled thence to their destination by the inland waterways or by stage. As they struck out into the wilderness even roads were few and far between. Schools, churches, doctors were non-existent or difficult of access. A good picture of early settlement in Upper Canada is given by the historian McMullen. He describes the settler going into the woods with no more worldly possessions than a gun, an axe and the clothes on his back.

"Thus lightly equipped, he took possession of his two hundred acres of closely-timbered forest land and commenced operations. The welkin strokes again with the vigorous strokes as huge tree after tree is assailed and tumbled to earth; and the sun presently shines in upon the little clearing. The best of the logs are partially squared and serve to build a shanty; the remainder are given to the flames. Now the rich mold, the accumulation of centuries of decayed vegetation, is gathered into little hillocks, into which potatoes are dibbled. Indian corn is planted in another direction, and perhaps a little wheat. If married, the lonely couple struggle on in their forest oasis like the solitary traveller over the sands of Sahara or a boat adrift on the Atlantic. The nearest neighbor lives miles off, and when sickness comes they have to travel far through the forest to claim human sympathy. But fortunately our nature, with elastic temperament, adapts itself to circumstances. By and by the potatoes peep up, and the corn-blades modestly show themselves around the charred maple stumps and girdled pines, and the prospect of the sufficiency of food gives consolation. As winter approaches, a deer now and then adds to the comforts of the solitary people. Such were the mass of the first settlers in Upper Canada." —London Adventurer.

For Frost Bites and Chilblains.—Chilblains come from undue exposure to slush and cold and frost-bite from the icy winds of winter. In the treatment of either an excellent preparation is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, as it counteracts the inflammation and relieves the pain. The action of the oil is prompt and its application is extremely simple.

New Type of Airplane

Invention of French Postman Operated by Compressed Air Motor

A French postman named Ernest Dole, of Lespilles, a little town near Avignon, France, who claims to have invented a new form of flying machine to be operated by a compressed air motor and six high-pressure air tubes which would permit instant elevation, placed a model of his invention on exhibition at the town there. Juxtaposed to the motor appears a novel turbine apparatus which takes in air to replace the air supply which the motor consumes, thereby dispensing with any need of fuel power.

The plane resembles the Santos Dumont model in form. The model shows two transmission pulleys and two propellers, one located over the bow of the machine and the other below midship.

Aside from the compressed air motor which is the most important feature of this invention, the postman's aeroplane distinguishes itself from other flying machines in being able to achieve vertical elevation, and the safety of the pilot is secured through transformation of the wings into parachutes. The inventor of the machine hopes to give it a trial soon at the airdrome in Lyons.

"Get along with you, Anna," said Maggie soothingly; "you're crazy. Be thankful you have a roof over your head and good money comin' every month; and I'd advise you to stow all that wild talk or you'll get canned."

"Sure, that's a threat—shut your mouth or lose your job. We're slaves, every one of us. And you're one, too, but you love your chains." Anna was not to be appeased.

"Well, slave or no slave, will you meet the girl at the station?"

"No," said Anna, "I only recognize the claims of the Union. This girl is a scab so far as I am concerned. Your religious stuff doesn't go with me—it's soothing syrup, that's all. This is war, Maggie; we might as well name it, it's war. Now go, and tell on me if you want to."

Maggie Kenny, looking after the head waitress as she swept from the room, shook her head. "That's the devil's own talk," she said, "and there's no sense in it. Well, she needn't go to the train; I can get Mrs. Spencer herself to give me a hand with the dinner, and it's herself that can do it well, and will make no complaint of it, either. Slave owner she may be, but it's a grand woman she is, anyway."

Mrs. Spencer, when appealed to by her old friend and cook, readily agreed to cook the dinner. She had planned to go to a tea at the Rectory to raise money for the Chinese, but she would send her dollar instead; and, indeed, she confided to Maggie it was grand to get her hands into the pie crust again, and maybe it was just as good to do a kind turn for a Finn girl coming into the country as for a Chinese, across the sea. The problem of the new Finn girl did not bother her at all. "Any girl that will wash dishes and scrub floors can always find a place, and if she's civil and clean and honest she'll get on, and," added Mrs. Spencer, "we can do with another now the Spring is here and we'll be for turning out the bedrooms."

crowd obstructed the traffic, gathering, knotting, and swelling, overflowing into the street. Policemen on horseback shouted, whistles blew, impatient automobile horns gave back derisive answers, and every moment the crowds grew denser. Maggie, remembering her mission, kept on the edge of the whirlpool, wondering what was causing all the excitement. In a lull in the commotion a man's voice fell on her ear, a hoarse voice, rough with shouting. The words were strangely familiar.

"Wage slaves, when will you wake up. The ruling classes, the owners, bring us here to do the rough and dirty work, pitting us one against the other to get their work done cheap. . . . Nothing to lose but our chains! . . . they send their paid police to scatter us. But the day will come."

Maggie turned away. This, then, was the place where Anna Milander was getting her education; and too bad it was, for Anna was a smart girl. As Maggie made her way through the crowd she came suddenly upon Anna; hardly recognizing her, for she wore an old cape and a heavy black veil. As Maggie jostled against her in the crowd her cape was brushed back, revealing a heavy stone in her hand.

"Cut that," whispered Maggie in her ear. "Don't be a fool, Anna. Do you want to go jail? Remember there's law in Canada."

"Law for the rich," sneered Anna, "none for the poor only what we make ourselves, and you're not helping us!"

A movement in the crowd swept Maggie on before she could say another word. She hurried into the station and saw that the big clock above the stairway pointed to the hour of the arrival of the train, and already the two living banks were forming in readiness for that troubled and palpitating stream which would come surging through the iron gates below.

"It's queer to be livin' in a country where the whole world come to see us," Maggie thought to herself when two Hindus with their lightly draped head-dresses walked haughtily by, followed by a colored man and woman with their little girl held by the hand.

"I'm glad I'm white," said Maggie to herself; "a white skin may be harder to keep clean, but it's worth the trouble . . . and even the poor child is as black as a boot—that doesn't seem fair—but that's God's business and not mine, and I'm glad. Gosh! I hope Katie hasn't landed a lemon on me."

"A red-haired girl in a green tam"—that's not much to go by—there's ten thousand shades of red hair—and every girl these days wears a tam—sloppy, lop-eared things they are, too.

They surged past her, women with shawls over their heads and endless troops of children, uniform only in weariness and mussiness. Maggie's tidy soul longed for oceans of soapy water and mountains of soft towels, and racks of clothes and troops of ministering angels with their sleeves rolled up, to help her. Absorbed in her gigantic plans she forgot her errand, rousing with a start when a voice beside her said, "Maggie Kenny." She looked around to see who had spoken and found beside her a tall young girl with soft brown eyes, red hair, and wearing a green tam.

"Maggie Kenny?" she said again, with a note of enquiry at the end, and an unmistakably foreign accent.

Maggie took her hand impulsively. "You're a smart thing," she said, forgetting that the girl could not understand; "how did you know me?"

Helmi had a photograph in her hand, an old one taken years before, when bangs were worn laid on straight and plastered down apparently with shoe polish. A stern to-boggan-slide of a hat, stiff and unrelenting, sat on Maggie's head like a helmet of mail, and the frozen look, which even the smallest kodak could inspire, was in her eye.

"Say, kid, you're smart!" cried Maggie in admiration, "I wouldn't know that myself."

Helmi laughed, showing a row of shining white teeth; she knew she was being praised.

She touched the photo and then pointed to Maggie's eyes.

"You'll do," said Maggie approvingly. "Kate Kenny didn't hand me a lemon this time."

The head waitress of the Yale Hotel was absent; lawfully detained, too. Indeed, at that moment that the delicious odor of roast beef, gravy, fried onions and creamed cauliflower was floating into the dining-room from the kitchen table, where Mrs. Spencer, in a bungalow apron, carved and "dished," at that very moment Miss Anna Milander was locked in a cell at the central police station, charged with having maliciously and with intent to hurt hurled a stone at a policeman. Anna did not deny the charge; she was well pleased with her afternoon's work. She had struck a blow in Freedom's cause. It was all rather vague in Anna's mind. She was rather favorably disposed toward policemen as a class, but having joined the Union she was determined to become "class conscious." Policemen were enemies; so were employers; every one was an enemy except members of the Union. So Anna, having a clear program in her head, sat on her narrow bed in a warm cell, well content. Her picture would be in the paper; she would be praised by the speakers. She had risen from the dull, gray, dusty depths of obscurity, which the speaker called the base of the economic pyramid, and in the interests of her comrades in the submerged strata had heaved an honest rock. More than that, it had gone unerringly to the mark, and the pride of achievement burned in Anna's heart. In the fulness of her contentment she sang:—

"The banker calls it interest, and winks the other eye;

The merchant calls it profit, and heaves a joyful sigh;

The landlord calls it rentals, and he puts it in his bag;

The good old honest burglar—he just calls it swag."

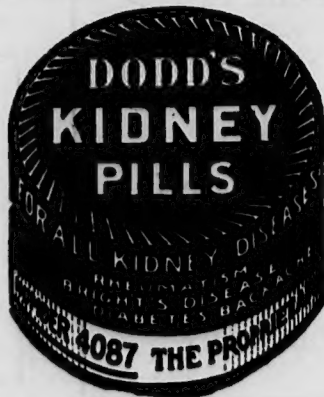

Though not related, Helmi and Anna bore the same name and resembled each other in features and coloring—the same creamy skin, reddish hair, brown eyes and general type. But at the moment they were widely different in appearance owing to the different styles of dress. Helmi wore a coarse shirt, a print blouse, with leather belt, heavily soled boots and home knitted stockings. Anna, having been two years in Canada, had already acquired "style." She wore a narrow skirt, slit at the side, showing a trace of crimson petticoat, with a knife pleated edge; a belted coat, a red Windsor tie, and silk stockings always. The thought of having worn cotton stockings when she arrived in Canada gave her a smothered feeling now—they were the brand of servitude. "Bandages," she scornfully called them.

What Russia Owes

Private British investors have claims against the Russian Soviet Government amounting to £510,000,000, and Russia's war debt to Britain is about £765,000,000—more than $6,000,000,000 altogether. Russian indebtedness to France is quite as great. Russians appear to be past-masters in the art of the golden touch.

Says Prison Reforms Carried to Extreme

Jails as Comfortable as Hotels Says Chief of Detectives in Quebec

Asserting that criminals of Canada and the United States no longer fear prison terms, George S. Rioux, chief of detectives in Quebec, rapped "mollycoddling" of criminals in a paper read at the convention of police chiefs in Windsor.

Rioux went on to say that prison reforms had been carried to a ridiculous extreme, and that many prisons now contain comforts not to be found in homes.

"The crook gets a better 'break' than victims of his violence," the Quebec chief detective said. "He is let loose on society after his sentence is completed, and the worst that happens to him when he outrages society again is that he returns to a place that is as comfortable as a hotel."

Saying that records prove that 70 per cent. of the criminals who have been convicted three times or more go back to their crooked devices when they are freed, Detective Rioux declared that no amount of sentimentalism or "sob stuff" is going to save the misfits of the world.

Refuses to Pay Fees

Réason Elevation of Lord Byng Has Not Been Gazetted

The viscounty conferred on Lord Byng in October last on his retirement from the governorship of Canada, has not yet been gazetted and the delay is believed to be due to the high cost of fees for gazetting a peerage or elevation therein, which Lord Byng refuses to pay. This runs anything between £330 and £730, according to the grade. Lord Byng is following the example of other soldiers who received honors in recognition of their war services in declining to pay for his elevation.

A GREAT PUZZLE TO CAREFUL PARENTS

One of the greatest puzzles to the careful parent is to know just what medicine to give the little ones. When the child falls ill with gripping pains; is seized with cold or fever, refuses food or vomits what he has taken, when he cries a great deal and cannot get the sleep so necessary to the growing child, the parent is in a quandary. What is to be done on such occasions? As often as not there is not a suitable medicine in the house. The puzzle is what to give him to set him right quickly.

It is to meet such emergencies that Baby's Own Tablets were designed. These pleasant little Tablets quickly reduce fever, break up colds, relieve constipation and indigestion and allay teething pains. They quiet the nerves and promote restful health-restoring sleep. They are guaranteed absolutely harmless and safe for even the youngest and most delicate baby.

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

First Electric Street Car

First Electric Car in the World Operated at St. Catharines, Ont.

George E. Patterson, builder of the first electric car operated in the world, died recently in Pasadena, Calif. In 1874 he established a carriage building business in St. Catharines, Ont., and later constructed street cars, the firm being known as Patterson and Corbin. It was one of his street cars, converted into an electric car, that was operated in 1887 between St. Catharines and Thorold. Five years ago he retired from active business at the age of 83.

Record of War Service

The devotion of the Prussian "steel helmets" to the Hohenzollerns is really very hard to understand. The family's record of war services is a very poor one. The Kaiser ran away. The Crown Prince earned the reputation of a gay Lothario. Eitel stole furniture from the country houses of private citizens. — London Sunday Pictorial.

Little Helps For This Week

Vouchsafe, O Lord, to keep us this day without sin.—Te Deum.

Dear Lord, Thou bringest back the morn;
Thy children wake; Thy children pray;
Oh! make our souls divinely yearn,
Pour Thy best beauty on the day.

Lend our slow feet that speed of Thine;

Our busy hands from evil stay;
Lord, help us still to tasks divine,
Still keep us in the heavenly way.

The weaklings plead; the sinners pray;

But, Lord, Thy grace exceeds our sin;

We cannot ask too bright a day;
Too much of Thee we cannot wish.

—Thomas Hornblower Gill.

Let it be our happiness this day to add to the happiness of those around us, to comfort some sorrow, to relieve some want, to add some strength to our neighbor's virtue.

Lived 30,000,000 Years Ago

One of the world's largest dinosaurs (Tornieria), which died about 30,000,000 years ago, is to be put on its legs again at the Natural History Museum, South Kensington. The Tornieria lived in the estuaries of rivers, laid eggs, and ate floating vegetation. It was about fifty feet long and thirty feet high, and weighed something like ten tons. Its bones were found in Tanganyika.

Eczema Covered Entire Body Cuticura Heals

"As far back as I can remember I had eczema. Practically my entire body was covered with it. It broke out in a fine rash which as I grew older developed into pimples and blisters. As a child I used to scratch it until it would bleed, and the burning and smarting were terrible. My face was a sight and I was kept home from school. I was kept awake at night and the torture was terrible."

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using it I got relief. I purchased more and in three months I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Edith E. Hunter, R. R. 3, Brockville, Ont.

Keep your skin clear by using Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum for daily toilet purposes. Touch pimples and itching, if any, with Cuticura Ointment, bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water.

EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Read Mrs. Menard's Letter. Her Experience May Help

Chatham, Ontario.—"I want to tell you how much good your medicine has done me. Before my baby came I felt so weak and run-down that I could hardly do my work. My head ached continually and I was so discouraged that I could cry from morning till night. I had another baby just one year and a half old and it gave me a lot to do. So I thought I would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as I had read so much about it in the little books. I found a difference right away as my head was relieved and my tired feelings gone. My sister had been doing my washing and she continued doing it, as she said it might set me back if I started to do it again. It sure did help me and I had taken just two bottles when my baby came. He is a fine big boy, now nearly five months old. I am taking your medicine again and I am able to do my work all by myself now. I always recommend the Vegetable Compound to women, and especially to expectant mothers, as I believe they need help at those times."

Jubilee Celebration.

The co-operation already given in connection with the Diamond Jubilee celebration in Didsbury on July 1st is most encouraging, and it is equally satisfactory to learn of further assistance which has been offered. The celebration will entail considerable work, and in some cases possibly a sacrifice of other plans, but when the individual mind grasps in full realization the objective and intention of this Dominion-wide event every resident will doubtless conceive it to be his or her duty to help in every way possible.

Notification has already been received of the intention of several of our country school districts to contribute, and the morning of July 1st the town will witness many hundreds coming in to celebrate.

Upon such an occasion as this, it is hoped that all will join in decorating with flags and bunting.

Make it a real gala day, and with the hearty co-operation of all Didsbury will have reason to be well pleased with its share in commemorating a big national event.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Harold Stauffer is now relieving agent at Airdrie, his position being filled here by Charlie Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Greer left on Saturday last for Cranbrook, B. C. Mrs. T. Murphy left on Monday for Edmonton.

Mrs. F. J. Reek of Calgary is visiting friends in town.

Will supporters of the Didsbury Agricultural Society's prize list who desire to insert advertisements, kindly leave their copy as early as possible either at the Pioneer office or with C. E. Reiber. It is desired to have the prize list out for distribution early next month and the co-operation of all will be much appreciated.

At a meeting of the wheat pool held at Carstairs Saturday last, Didsbury was represented by, amongst others, W. Scheidt, C. Gibbs, Dave Irwin, A. O'Brien, Bruce Parker, W. Archer, E. Cullen, H. Hehn, and Hugh McLean. There was a good attendance and all report a very successful meeting. Addresses were delivered by H. W. Wood, president of the Wheat Pool, and Mr. Purdy, Pool manager. In the big drive for new contracts now under way, Dave Irwin has received the appointment of district supervisor, and he is now engaged in securing canvassers to cover the district allotted to him.

On Saturday at the Didsbury Opera House, Zane Grey's "Last Trail" featuring Tom Mix, will be shown. On Wednesday, next week Hoot Gibson will appear in the "Prairie King."

Out of four applications received at the meeting of the Town Council last Monday night the name of Mr. Kercher was finally selected for the position of night patroller. He will commence his duties on August 1st. Included in the business transacted the Council agreed to donate $100 towards Didsbury's celebration on July 1st. The matter of draining and gravelling the roads was also discussed, and it was decided to fix up the front street for two blocks, commencing at the corner of the Royal Bank. The members of the Council present were Mayor Chambers, Councillors Barrett, Berseht, Reiber, and Tighe.

After spending a most enjoyable visit for several months with friends at the coast Mrs. Lowrie returned home last week.

The members of the Goff Club are tendering their appreciation for work done by Jim McDougall and A. G. Studer at the golf course recently. The fairways mowed by the former show a marked improvement and the sand hauled by Mr. Studer, it is said, has resulted in much better play on the part of the members.

During the refreshment hour at the regular meeting of the O.E.S. on Tuesday night a pleasing little ceremony took place, when Miss Stock was called upon by the Worthy Matron to accept at the hands of the members of the Lodge a very pretty silver-mounted casserole, the presentation being made by Sister Studer, accompanied by a neat little speech of appreciation and "every good wish for the future."

Mr. and Mrs. Griffin of Calgary are visiting friends in Didsbury for a few days.

The North-end Livery Barn was disposed of by sale last week, J. W. Walden, west of Red Deer, purchasing the business from W. Wrigglesworth.

Fine Program July 1st at the Opera House.

Manager Sharp of the Didsbury Opera House has been busy the past week arranging a suitable program for the big celebration on July 1st. He will show a number of subjects which will undoubtedly prove very interesting to his audience. Among them will be several of Canada's most important industries, depicting the process of manufacture with the operations in detail. From an educational standpoint alone they should prove most instructive. A special reel will be shown in connection with the Diamond Jubilee dealing with the time of Confederation to the present day. The price of admission will be ten cents for children up to twelve years of age; all over that a charge of 25c will be made.

Baseball.

On Monday last, the Bowden ball team played the local team on the home grounds. The game was fairly fast throughout and at several times during the game, both teams showed some snappy play. Line-up: Stautter - catcher; Johnson - pitcher; Hyman - first base; Coe - second; Evans - third;

"FRENCH LEAVE"

It should be good news for our theatre goers to learn that the much talked about "French Leave" has been secured by the management for presentation at the Opera House, Didsbury, for one night only - Friday, June 24th. Peggie Burnand, appearing in "French Leave" at the Opera House Friday night.

serious side of the campaign being introduced into the action.

Didsbury Tennis Club Plays Crossfield.

On Saturday last the Didsbury Tennis Club were the hosts to the Crossfield Club. Another enjoyable meet was had and once again Didsbury emerged victorious in practically all of the events. As we still have to meet Olds to complete our district interclub competition, it behooves all the players to keep in form by constant practise. The first match with Olds will, in all probability, be held in Olds within the course of a week.

The caterpillars are with us again for the second season of their usual three-year campaign. In some sections of the valley the poplars are black with the little crawlers, and in a few weeks the trees in many parts will be bare of leaves. The grubs were so plentiful on the railway track on the Judah hill last Sunday that the freight train found it necessary to return to town to change the engine to the rear of the freight cars in order to get sufficient hold on the track to reach the top of the hill. Local trees about residences can be saved by watching carefully and keeping them free from caterpillars, but there is no means of saving the landscape.—Peace River Record.

VACATION (PLUS)

(By S. J. Crumline, M.D., Field Secretary)

(Issued by Dept. Public Health, Edmonton)

The purpose of vacation is to promote health. Change of interest, scene and habits of living all tend, or should tend to influence favorably those mental and physical functions that are essential to a condition known as health. From the day when we send for descriptive circulars and time-tables and discuss the various routes, places and hotels, to the day when we turn our faces homeward, the exhilarating expectancy and the thrilling adventure into new and unknown corners of our vacation world should mean renewed strength of body and refreshment of mind and spirit.

But our vacation plans should be so carefully prepared that we may reasonably expect such happy results, a vacation plus, and not the tragedy of sickness which occasionally befalls the unwary and unprepared, and which would end in a vacation minus.

Typhoid fever, perhaps more often than any other disease, follows in the trail of the vacationist, especially the motor car travellers. Therefore, if means have been devised to avoid the hazard of typhoid fever they should be consciously known and applied as guiding principles in our vacation plans. The germs that cause typhoid fever are usually conveyed through contaminated water, milk or food. This gives us our clue as to the care we need to exercise in order to be sure we are not unnecessarily exposing ourselves to dangerous infection. A safe rule to follow relating to water is to drink water only from known safe supplies. Most city supplies are safe, for chlorination of public water supplies is now almost universal. If you are out of reach of known safe water you should boil the water and make it safe.

The only safe milk is pasteurized milk. If then you use only milk that has been effectively pasteurized you may be reasonably assured of safety from this source.

Foods are often contaminated by house flies carrying infectious material on their legs. At camp you need to make sure your camp is not located near an open vault or latrine, as danger from such source is very real through the medium of the ubiquitous house-fly.

In addition to these safeguards that should surround the milk, the water and the food, every vacationist, especially the camping vacationist, should be immunized against typhoid fever by typhoid vaccine inoculation. Your physician will give this and will tell you that this first line of defense, together with precautions relating to water, milk and food, will protect you from the chief vacation hazard, typhoid fever. You may then be reasonably assured of a vacation plus!

More and more the owners of big cars are now turning to Chevrolet for a second car.

Law and Order, or Chaos?

The action of the British and Canadian Governments in breaking off diplomatic and trade relations with the Russian Soviet Government is the culmination of a long series of non-diplomatic actions on the part of the Soviet authorities, and openly expressed and active enmity to British interests in all parts of the world. Professing friendship and enjoying rights and privileges wherever the Union Jack flies, Soviet emissaries everywhere plotted and schemed to undermine British influence, destroy British interests, all with the avowed object of ultimately overthrowing the British form of government and breaking up the British Empire.

Wherever in any part of the world unrest was found to exist, wherever trouble loomed up, there the Soviet agents were busy carrying on their baneful propaganda, and always especially active if British interests were in any wise concerned. The British Government continued to exercise patience and forbearance until these ceased to be a virtue. In sooth, the Soviet regarded the policy of conciliation followed by Great Britain as a sign of weakness. They treated it with contempt while taking full advantage of it.

But it is not the British Empire alone that is involved in Soviet propaganda and activities. Every nation having a regard for the continuance of law, order and good government, and interested in the maintenance of sound economic principles in all international relationships and trade, must view with concern the attitude of the Russian Communist Government. In a word, all nations must recognize the fact that there are two major forces contending for supremacy in the world today so hopelessly antagonistic to each other that both cannot survive.

On the one hand, there is the communistic idea sponsored by the Soviet, a system which denies God, decries the moral code recognized in all civilized communities, ignores rights of property, flourishes on strife, discord and unrest, has no regard for obligations solemnly entered into by it, and ever seeks to promote its theories and activities through the medium of spies and openly lawless characters.

On the other hand there are those people who reverence God and religion, who uphold the moral code, who believe in the sanctity of marriage, recognize property rights, observance of law and respect for constituted authority and the honorable obligations of promises and treaties, who strive for peace and the orderly solution of social and economic problems, rather than resort to revolutionary methods, spy systems, treachery, threats, intimidation, even execution without trial.

One or the other of these codes for the government of mankind must prevail; there can be no compromise where principles of conduct are so absolutely opposed.

The nations of the world are coming to a realization of the situation and to an acceptance of the struggle involved. Unlike Great Britain and some other countries, the United States never recognized the Russian Soviet Government and has consistently refused to have any dealings with it. The whole English-speaking world now takes the same position. France, too, is alarmed, as is evidenced by the recent declarations made on behalf of the French Government. And U.S. Ambassador Herrick to France has declared his belief that "the people of every country have not to choose between order and anarchy, between honesty and thievery, between every day virtue and crime." "Either we believe in orderly society or we don't," he declared, "if we do, we ought to use all the power within us to defend and advance it."

Calling itself a Workers' Government, the Communists of Russia have sought to get control of organized labor throughout the world. In this they failed in Great Britain, in the United States, in Canada, where the hard common sense of the working men and the sanity and patriotism of their leaders have foiled these insidious attempts. "Reds" everywhere seek to create the impression that opposition to Bolshevism is opposition to organized labor, but nothing was further from the truth. Labor has everything to fear and lose from the spreading of the Russian doctrine and nothing to gain.

Internal vigilance is the price of liberty, and as there can be no true liberty under the Bolsheviks, as even many of them have learned to their sorrow, the civilized nations must remain on guard lest they fall in the pit which has engulfed the people of Russia.

History Will Repeat Itself

Hudson Bay Railway is Only Another
Aid to Canada's Progress

Those who talk of the Hudson Bay Railway in similar strain today should be reminded that only, comparatively, a few years ago Edmonton was regarded as too far north to become the centre of developed territory. But Canada, once all length, grows broader year by year. Marquis wheat pushes the limit of cultivation two hundred miles or so nearer the Arctic circle and long before settlement has exhausted the lands thus made available, means will be found to utilize those beyond them. The Morning Star believes that once the Hudson Bay railway is completed and begins operation, less than a decade will elapse before those who now condemn the enterprise as hopelessly fantastic will be glad to forget that they ever posed as prophets.—Vancouver Star.

Says Comet Caused War

The cause of the war was due to gaseous trails left in the earth's atmosphere by Halley's comet in 1910, declared a speaker to a meeting in Washington. The gas made humanity nervous, suspicious and irritable, he said, and if another war occurs in 1929, the Pons-Winnecke comet of last June must be blamed.

R. A. F. Fighting Planes In Altitude Contest

Quickest Time Made in Ascent and Descent Will Decide Winner

Single-seater fighters, with motors supercharged to maintain power in thin air at great heights are to take part in an altitude race at the Royal Air Force display at the Hendon Aerodrome, N.W., on July 2.

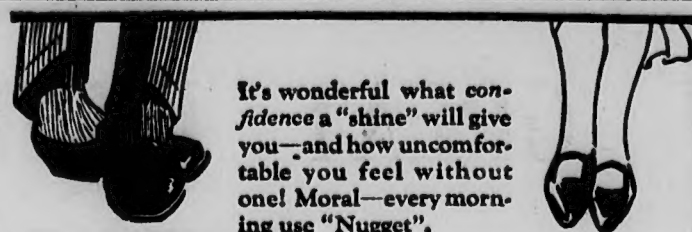

Ascending with sealed height recorders, they will rush up to more than 25,000 feet or approximately five miles. Their pilots will wear electrically warmed suits and be provided with oxygen breathing appliances.

Having gained as rapidly as possible the height stipulated the pilots will come swooping back to earth again, the winner being the airman who makes the ascent and descent in the quickest time.

Honored Poor Inventor

Egyptian King Visited England to Pay
Homage to Samuel Crompton

Because 150 years ago a poor boy named Samuel Crompton wanted to help his mother, a king came to England all the way from the glamorous Orient, with all his glittering entourage, to stand in silent homage at his simple gravestone.

What the boy did completely revolutionized the cotton spinning industry, made the British city of Bolton one of the busiest and richest towns in the world, and made possible a vast development in the cotton growing industry of Egypt.

That's why King Fuad came from Cairo especially to take part in the centenary celebration of Crompton's death.

Last January, when the International Cotton Congress was held in Cairo, the King was asked to come to the Crompton celebration at Bolton. He accepted.

As a boy, when Samuel Crompton helped his mother spin yarn at home for the industry was then carried on in the cottages, the difficulties he encountered suggested to him a cross between the Hargreaves and Arkwright contrivances.

The invention is generally known in the trade as a "mule." Its principal innovation was the introduction of a spindle carriage which took away the strain on the thread and enabled much finer yarn to be spun, thus making mullin possible.

Sheep Protection Act

Municipalities in Saskatchewan Now
Liable for Damage Done by Dogs

Saskatchewan's new act for the protection of sheep from dogs, went into effect May 1st. Under its provisions, any municipality in the province is liable for damages done to sheep by dogs, and all municipalities must appoint competent valuers to assess damages where sheep are destroyed or damaged by dogs. To provide funds to meet these losses, any municipality may impose a dog tax of $1.00 for first and $2.00 for the second male dog kept, and up to $5.00 for each female.

FOUND A HEALTH BUILDING TONIC

A Nova Scotia Lady Was in an Anaemic Condition

Men and women who do not sleep well and are not refreshed and strengthened by a night's rest, are generally suffering from thin, watery blood. The nerves fail to get the nourishment they demand and headaches and a worn-out feeling is the result. Building up the blood is the one sure step to renewed health and strength, and for this purpose nothing else can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. From first dose to last they enrich and purify the blood, and in this way promote better appetite, better rest at night, and renewed strength.

Mrs. Mary E. Uhlman, Williams-town, N.S., writes:—"I have received so much benefit from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, that I would feel myself ungrateful if I did not let you know."

I was in a very poor state of health and reached the stage where I had to remain in bed. A doctor was called in and he told me I had no organic trouble, but was simply run down from overwork. I had been left with a family to support, which I did by dressmaking. The doctor said my blood had almost turned to water, and advised a rest cure. I did not see how it was possible for me to take a very long rest, so I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Soon I found my strength returning and before very long I was able to go about my duties as usual again. This was a few years ago, and my health remained good until about a year ago, when I broke out with humor of the blood. Again I consulted the doctor, who said my blood had become so thin that it had really poisoned itself. I told him I had bought several boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and he told me to go on taking them as he thought they were just what I needed. I took eight boxes and again was in good health. I can therefore recommend these pills to all in a weak or run-down condition."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price, 50 cents a box. Try them today.

Learned the Reason

Forbes Magazine tells of a colored agent who was summoned before the insurance commissioner. "Don't you know," said the commissioner, "that you can't sell life insurance without a State license?"

"Boss," said the man, "you said a mouthful. I knowed I couldn't sell it, but I didn't know the reason."

Miss Richardson received first, Mrs. Pearson, second. Miss Cluton of the O.S.A. judged the bread and after judging, explained to the members the points on which the bread was judged.

Guesses on the weight of a large angel food cake were sold. Mr. S. Tighe winning the cake. Remember the dance following the picnic on July 5th. Sunny-slope five-piece orchestra will furnish the music.

The Ideal Citizen.

An ideal citizen, says the Oshawa Reformer, is the one who sees clearly and ever something good in his city or town and never loses the opportunity to spread the good news abroad that others might derive the benefits therefrom; whose unselfishness prompts him to want others to share opportunities, health and pleasures which his home town offers. Loyalty is the first requisite for the ideal citizen. The love for the place and his neighbors which dismisses the thought of self-interest or policy and resolves itself into the knowledge of duty when he does all in his power

"THE GREATEST FORWARD STEP

IN THREE THOUSAND YEARS"

The Wheat Pool

H. W. Wood, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Alberta Wheat Pool, says that in forming this marketing organization the farmers took the greatest step forward in three thousand years.

The Wheat Pool enables wheat producers to handle their wheat in their own way and sell it themselves in their own way. The entire force of this great organization is directed toward the desired end of bettering the condition of the western grain grower.

Every grain grower who joins the Pool now adds that much strength to the Organization. The stronger the Wheat Pool is, the better for Western Canada.

to make the city or the town a better place in which to live. There are three distinct attitudes which a citizen may assume toward the place in which he lives, which furnishes him food, shelter, and association for himself and family—to boost, to remain quiet, or to knock. The booster is that ideal citizen who is never forgetful of the obligations which are due the home town. He is ever found at the front when any movement is launched which might tend to the advancement of the interest of the community. While others see darkly, to him good is visible at all times. The quiet citizen is satisfied to let the neighbor do the work and content to lull the community asleep and let it rest. The knocker is the man who is without a country. There is no room for him anywhere, his presence dampens the enthusiasm of every man or group of men who unfortunately come in contact with him. Having no faith in his own ability to go forward, he naturally lacks faith in his home town to do so. You have the chance to belong to any one of the three classes. If you are a booster, your neighbor knows it well and will boost you. If you are aligned with the quiet class, you will not be regarded one way or the other, for the man who selects to steer in the middle of the stream gets no support from either side. If, unfortunately, you are a knocker, get ready to be knocked, for eventually it is coming to you. As you give, so will it be meted out to you.

The Mosquito Pest

The people of Canada are slowly awakening to the necessity of concerted, aggressive action to destroy the breeding places of mosquitoes. Like so many other things with which we stupidly put up, the mosquito pest can be practically eliminated if we go the right way about it, and become fully convinced that prevention is worthwhile. The mosquito is not only a source of irritation and pain, but it is an actual menace not only to human beings but to dumb animals as well.

The United States succeeded in constructing the Panama Canal, where the French had failed, largely because the American engineers tackled the problem of first destroying the mosquitoes and flies which made life unbearable in the Panama zone and were the prolific carriers of disease and fever among the workmen. Panama had first to be made a fit place in which to live and work before the canal could be built. And the campaign which was successfully conducted there has been followed elsewhere in the southern states.

Apart altogether from the discomfort to humans, and the communication of disease for which the mosquito is responsible, the fact is that the country sustains an economic loss as a result of the tortures endured by horses, cattle, and other animals in the open where mosquitoes thrive unmolested and these dumb creatures have no means of protecting themselves. The question has well been asked, how can animals upon which farmers rely for work and production yield normal production under such conditions? Anything that will eliminate the mosquito and free horses and cattle from the irritation which they now must undergo would be repaid many times over.

Mosquito elimination campaigns are now in progress in Banff, Ottawa, Winnipeg, and in the Fraser River Valley, and every community which suffers from this pest would be well advised to follow their example. Inasmuch as the scientific facts upon which mosquito control is based are of general public interest, we quote the following from Toronto Saturday Night, which is urging Governments to take the lead in these campaigns.

The life-history of the mosquito shows that most of the eggs are laid the previous summer in this latitude, either in stagnant pools or in places that will become stagnant for a sufficient length of time in the spring. Barrels, old cans, broken bottles, or any water-containing vessels lying in the open are also favorite breeding places. Rivers or running streams do not breed mosquitoes, but flood waters and snow-pools may prove large sources of the pest. Lawns and golf courses, open grass and shrubberies do not breed mosquitoes. The eggs are laid in stagnant water, or where there will be stagnant water for a sufficient length of time.

Pools that dry up in two or three weeks are of no consequence. The eggs are not affected in the least degree by frost, but hatch out about April 15th, sometimes earlier, into wrigglers, or larvae, as scientists call them. These wrigglers swim and feed in the stagnant pools, rising every two or three minutes to the surface, tail first. On the tail is a fine air tube, which is thrust just above the surface to take in air—without which the wrigglers cannot live. After two or three weeks of this existence the wrigglers change into common shaped pupae, which in from two to seven days come to the surface, split and liberate the complete mosquito.

Thus, in the life cycle of the mosquito it is most readily destroyed in the wriggler stage by placing on the surface of the pools a thin film of crude oil, a cheap commodity, which chokes or poisons the fine air-tube at the end of the wriggler's tail. This is applied either by watering cans or by knapsack sprayers. Small areas may be successfully handled by individuals with coal-oil or crank-case waste oil from automobiles. Rags, soaked in these substances, may be weighted with stones and thrown into pools.

In these days of machinery on the farm and the almost universal use of automobile, there are oil soaked rags about, dirty waste oil after cleaning out automobile crank cases and parts of tractors and other machinery, and if these waste substances, instead of being burned, were thrown into stagnant pools of water and other breeding places of the mosquito, the result would be beneficial. The general adoption by people of the policy of spraying off into stagnant pools in the vicinity of their homes would in a few years greatly reduce the mosquito pest in this country, adding to the pleasure of life in the summer months, assisting to check the spread of fevers, and bring economic gain, as well as relieving our dumb animals of the suffering they now undergo.

Additional information on the subject of mosquito control can be obtained by writing the Dominion Entomologist at Ottawa.

Heart Secondary Motive Power

Activity of Cells Comes First Says German Professor

Professor Martin Mendelssohn, who has occupied the chair of diseases of the heart in Berlin university since 1899, has put forward the extraordinary theory that the heart is not the prime motive power for life, but as an organ plays only a secondary part. His theory is that the activity of the cells of the body, in absorbing and eliminating fluids, constitutes the chief motive power in forcing the blood through the system.

Mrs. D. Leavitt, Back Bay, N.B., writes: "Last summer my children were very ill with cholera and suffered severely from cramps and pains in their stomachs. I tried several remedies, but nothing seemed to do them any good. A friend of mine told me to try Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I got a bottle and gave them a few doses and they soon found relief. Now I will never be without it in the summer months."

Reducing Canada's Debt

Forty-two Millions is Reduction in Last Fiscal Year

Canada's net debt was reduced by $12,000,000 during the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1927.

When he delivered his budget speech February 17 last, Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, could only estimate what the decrease would be, since the Government's financial year had still another six weeks to go. Mr. Robb erred on the side of caution, and placed the figure at $21,000,000. That he was well within the mark is indicated by the information that he underestimated the amount by eleven million dollars.

It is figured that in the last four years the national debt has been reduced by $106,000,000.

In November of this year there are maturing loans of $37,000,000, the minister hopes to redeem one of them in cash and at least a portion of the other, while necessary refinancing will be accomplished at a reduced rate of interest.

Fruit Growing in British Columbia

43,569 Acres Now Devoted to This Industry

In British Columbia commercial fruit growing is of comparatively recent origin, but the development of commercial orcharding has been very rapid, especially during the last ten years. The first apple trees were planted about 1850, but not until several years later were numerous trees planted for commercial purposes. The census of 1891 gave the area devoted to all kinds of fruit as 6,500 acres; in 1921 the census showed a total fruit acreage in British Columbia of 43,569 acres. The most noted fruit district in the province is the Okanagan valley, where some of the finest orchards in the province and in the Dominion are to be found. The boxed apples from British Columbia are in demand on all the important markets in the British Isles and Europe. Pears, plums, peaches, apricots, cherries and small fruits are grown on a large scale throughout British Columbia.

One of the commonest complaints of infants is worms, and the most effective application for them is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

Feldspar on Lake of the Woods

U.S. Syndicate Opening Crushing and Grinding Plant

An interesting mining development is taking place at the Northwest Angle, Lake of the Woods. A United States Syndicate is opening up a feldspar mine on the U.S. side of the border. This is the first enterprise of the kind in the northwest. The feldspar will be shipped south for treatment at first, but it is the intention of the syndicate to erect a crushing and grinding plant at the mine, if the quality of the rock proves satisfactory. A deposit of mica is also to be exploited. A company is also developing a feldspar and mica claim on the Canadian side of the border. If the mica is found to be unsuited for commercial purposes, attention will be given solely to the feldspar.

Third Rail Stops Engine

By means of a third rail that develops electricity during the movement of the train, a device recently invented by an Italian, stops trains without the action of the engineer. When anything obstructs the track a light shows in the engine cab. The third rail can also be used for a telephone service for drivers.

A FAMILY MEDICINE

A Welland Lady Tells of the Value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in Her Home

"I have many reasons for praising Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," says Mrs. George L. Swick, R.R. No. 2, Welland, Ont. "My first experience with this medicine was in my girlhood, when, following an attack of scarlet fever, I was left in a badly run down condition, and the pills restored me to good health. Later in my married life I had a severe attack of rheumatism. The pain in my right arm and shoulder was so bad that I could not dress myself without help. Again I resorted to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and again they proved a blessing to me, as soon the rheumatic pains and stiffness disappeared and there has been no return of the trouble. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have also been of great benefit to my children. One of my boys was threatened with St. Vitus dance. His limbs and face would twitch and jerk. I gave him the pills, and again they did not fail, as under the treatment the trouble ceased. I have also given the pills to my little girl, who was anaemic, and in this case also with the greatest benefit. Naturally when I hear anyone complaining of not feeling well I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as I know of no other medicine to equal them in building up the blood and restoring health."

Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia and other nervous troubles. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition, and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

STEPS TO AVERT AT OUTBREAK OF WAR IN EUROPE

Geneva, Switzerland. — Statesmen attending the League of Nations council meeting here are reported increasingly convinced that the time has imperatively arrived to take preventive steps to avert an outbreak of war in Europe.

Fear of such an eventuality is mainly inspired by the reported attitude of Soviet Russia following the breaking of diplomatic relations by Great Britain and the assassination of the Soviet Minister to Poland. In Southern Europe another situation presents itself through the break of relations between Yugoslavia and Albania.

The Associated Press learns that Germany has been virtually brought over to the camp of those powers who favor warning Russia against continuance of her alleged propaganda abroad and terrorism at home.

If this warning is delivered jointly by the powers which is a possibility, it will not be worded as a menace to the Soviet system, but will be drafted from the viewpoint that Europe cannot risk another war and that the powers are united in the sense that any aggressor is the enemy of all.

Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany is profoundly anxious to avoid any appearance of "forging a hostile ring of steel around Russia" and will presumably only promise Germany's support to a general anti-war movement.

Germany has a special national interest in preventing any armed outbreak between the European powers and Russia as she subscribed to the principle to the Locarno pact on the understanding that German soil would not be utilized for the passage of troops moving against Russia, but as a member of the League of Nations she would find herself greatly embarrassed in preventing the operation of military penalties against any state which refused arbitration and resorted to hostilities.

Will Hear Canadian Appeals

Six Cases Will Come Before Session of Privy Council

London. — Six Canadian appeals are on the list for the June sittings of the judicial committee of the privy council.

Among them is one of the Luscar Collieries, Ltd., Alberta, an appeal in which the minister of justice, and Attorney-General of Canada is linked with others as respondent touching the jurisdiction of the board of railway commissioners for Canada over provincial railways.

There is also a reference by the Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, Hon. James Crauswick Tory, on questions affecting the constitution of the Nova Scotia legislative council. In this appeal the Nova Scotia government seeks authority either to increase the membership of the legislative council beyond the present statutory number of 21, or dismiss the members of that body at pleasure, the government's aim being to abolish the council in either case.

Would Take Canadian Butter

Good Market in Britain for Saskatchewan Product

Regina. — That Saskatchewan may shortly be exporting a regular seasonal quantity of butter to the British market, was stated by E. P. Jupp, dairy products manager in London, England, for the New Zealand and Mercantile Agency Co., Ltd., during his visit here. Saskatchewan creameries have first-rate manufacturing plants and organizations, and, favored by legislation of an encouraging kind, should be able to ship much butter to the old land, Mr. Jupp declared. It was necessary, however, that the requirements of the British market be carefully studied.

St. Catharines, Ont. — Rev. Dr. Johnston and Dr. W. J. MacDonald left on a trip which will take them to the far reaches of the Slave River and its connections to the Arctic Ocean. They will obtain 300 miles from Edmonton and will travel more than 1,000 miles by water.

Home Makers Discuss Immigration Question

Resolution Disapproving Government Relief Brought Before Convention

Saskatoon. — Disapproval of the vigorous immigration policy of the government until the present unemployed are cared for and until those already brought to Canada in former years have been assimilated and stabilized, and opposition to the granting of special privileges to those outside Canada that are not granted to fellow citizens here, was the substance of a resolution endorsed by the United Farmers and presented by the Robson Home Makers for discussion by the Home Makers clubs in annual session at Convocation Hall.

This resolution with the request for discussion was read by Miss De Lury in her annual report as convener of the immigration committee. Much interest has been aroused on the subject in many of the clubs and the practical working out of the immigration policies in the province has stimulated this interest to such an extent that a regularly organized committee of immigration be formed on the same basis as other standing committees with a provincial convener.

Penal Servitude for Life

Assassin of Soviet Minister to Warsaw Escapes Death Penalty

Warsaw. — Boris Kowceda, the 19-year-old youth who assassinated Peter Volkoff, Soviet minister at Warsaw, on June 7, was sentenced to penal servitude for life and the loss of all civil rights. The courts decided to recommend to the President of the Republic commutation of the sentence to 15 years servitude.

Kowceda admitted the killing at his brief trial, but declared he was not guilty of murder. He had merely taken vengeance for "what the Bolsheviks have done in Russia."

FINAL RESULTS OF ELECTIONS FOR IRISH COMMONS

Dublin. — With the three Independents to be elected by Dublin University, the final state of the parties in the new Dail Eireann will be as follows:

The Clan Eireann, one of the numerous Free State political parties, has been extinguished by the general elections, and its founder, Prof. William Magennis, has lost his seat in the Dail. He represented the National University in Dublin and his only supporter in the last Dail, Patrick O'Malley, deputy Speaker, was defeated in Galway.

Post-Graduate Course For Canadian Students

Plan Sought to Have British Examiners Come to Dominion

Toronto. — In order to control the afflux of graduates of Canadian medical colleges to the United States, where many of them go for post-graduate work, the Canadian Medical Council has under discussion and arrangement a scheme for the co-relation of British and Canadian Medical education.

At present, cost of going to Britain to take post-graduate work places it beyond the reach of most eligibles. Under the plan which is expected to be in operation within a year, the graduate of a Canadian medical college will be able to take in Canada his primary examination for admission to the fellowship of the Royal College of Surgeons in England. British examiners will come out and set the examinations.

The primary examinations in physiology and anatomy will be conducted here, but the final examination in clinical subjects will still have to be taken in England. This is expected to result in large numbers of Canadian graduates taking up work here at home for the British examination.

Another activity in which the Canadian medical association is entering upon is the establishment in pioneer districts with the assistance of the Canadian Red Cross pioneer hospitals where the best medical services will be available to people in the hinterlands of Canada as modern and up to date as if they were in a city.

Cattle From Britain

First Shipment to Arrive After Embargo Restrictions Removed

Ottawa. — The first shipments of cattle and sheep to reach Canada from Great Britain, since the embargo restrictions have been removed are now in the Dominion quarantine station at Levis, Que. The federal authorities were notified recently. As a number of other permits have been issued further shipments are expected to arrive shortly.

Cattle will be kept in strict quarantine for 30 days after arrival, while the quarantine period for sheep is 30 days from the time of embarkation, and in order to prevent any possibility of the dissemination of infection should it be present in any of these imported animals, importers or other stockmen will not be permitted to enter the quarantine premises even for the purpose of looking their stock over.

Proposed Memorial

Kinston, Ont. — General A. E. Ross, M.P. for Kingston, has sent a circular to Conservative members in the country asking for subscriptions for the erection of a memorial to Sir John A. Macdonald in Ottawa, and with the balance to build a home, for the Conservative leader, in the capital.

Rough Rider From Australia

Sydney, Australia. — Allan McPhee, Australian champion rough rider, goes to Canada to contest the world's championship at the Calgary steeple in July.

SEEK INCREASE OF TARIFF ON CLOTH IMPORTS

Ottawa. — Imported shirts were torn between the fingers and imported blankets were pulled easily into pieces before the tariff board by P. J. Campbell, manufacturer of flannels, Almonte, Ont., to show the nature of importations.

Mr. Campbell, in seeking an increased tariff, also sought to have standards established which would make it impossible to sell inferior fabrics for work shirts and flannels. Mr. Campbell produced imported shirts which had lost their color after a single washing and Canadian-made shirts still firm with fast colors after two years of wear and wash by a farmer.

The Merchant Tailor Association brief objected to any increase in tariff on imported British wools. It was claimed the British materials were superior in uniformity and finish, and that the pattern selection was greater than the Canadian.

R. P. Sparks presented the case for the Canadian Association of Garment Manufacturers, not requesting any specific change of duty but suggesting a spread of ten per cent. as a minimum between the raw material and the finished product. The hearing will continue.

Narrow Escape of Portuguese Aviators

Rescued by Fishing Boat When Plane Wrecked at Sea

Rio Janeiro, Brazil. — A three hours' battle with the elements as they held on to the floating wreckage of their plane is the story of Major Sarmiento Belres, Portuguese aviator, and the three men who were with him in his attempt to fly back to Lisbon by way of the United States. They left Para, Brazil, for Georgetown, British Guiana, on June 7, and after flying only 30 miles, a mishap compelled a forced landing at sea. When about to resume the journey a huge wave engulfed the plane, wrecking it.

The men held on tenaciously for three hours as a storm raged, great waves washing over them repeatedly.

When they had almost given up hope a fishing boat appeared and they were rescued with difficulty and taken to Para. The plane sank and only the log of the flight was saved.

Major Belres, who flew across the South Atlantic from the West African coast to an island off the Brazilian coast and thence to Brazil last March, now will return to Europe with his companions by steamer.

Developing Proper Spirit

Canadians Should Think of Canada All the Time

Ottawa. — "Until we develop a spirit of national consciousness Canada will never become a great country," was the statement of Howard Stutchbury, trade commissioner of Alberta, speaking here. "The people of the United States always think in terms of the United States. Over there they don't have made-in-the-Empire exhibitions—they don't have to, for the tendency to consume native products is inherent. That spirit should be encouraged in Canada, and until Canadians think of Canada all the time, Canada cannot become a great nation."

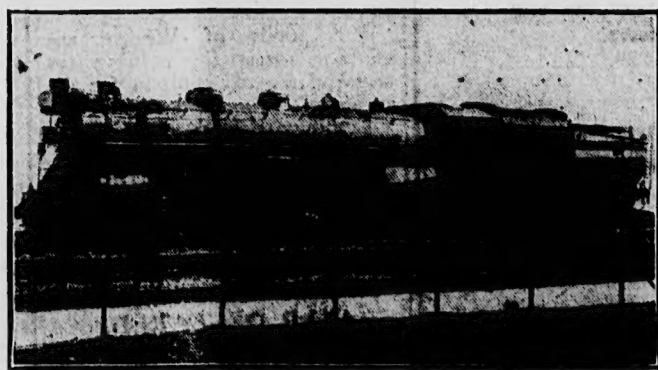

Agree on Tomato Prices

Kelowna, B.C. — Tomato growers have reached a satisfactory agreement with the canneries. The price to be paid to the growers will be $16.50 per ton for Earliana, which variety will be grown at Kelowna, and $18.50 for John Baer, which will form the main crop in some of the southern plantings. It is expected 1,000 acres will be planted to tomatoes in the Kelowna district.

Canada's Newest Locomotive

The illustration depicts the new "6100" class locomotive, the latest production of the mechanical department of the Canadian National Railways. Forty of these "Northern Type" engines have been manufactured in Canadian plants for use of main line fast passenger and manifest freight service. They are 93 feet 10 1/2 inches over all. The tender has a capacity of 11,300 imperial gallons of water and 20 tons of coal. In working order the total weight of engine and tender is 638,000 pounds. Note the new position of the whistle, located on the left hand of the smoke box near the stack. This is to save the driver's ears. These engines are designed for power at speed and it is estimated that they can make 90 miles an hour with a heavy train.

Church Announcements EVANGELICAL NOTES.

Rev. L. H. Wagner, P.E., 20 years Superintendent of Missions
The North-West Canada Conference of the Evangelical Church now convening here in the local church, is a history-making event.

The organization of the North-west district into a new conference of the Evangelical Church is the main issue. This involves all the Evangelical Churches in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta. Up to the present the work in this territory has been under direction of the Eastern powers in Ontario. The steady growth of the work here however and the special needs characteristic of the West and not of the East demands a more direct self-governing method of carrying on here in the future than in the past. Hence the hour has come for organization of the prairie district into a new conference separate from Ontario but still under the same denominational head.

Much credit is due to Rev. L. H. Wagner P.E. who has been the Superintendent of North-west Missions almost from the very beginning of the Evangelical work here, i.e. 20 years. His rare gift of adaptability to all kinds of people, in poverty and wealth, with the different languages and dialects, plus the ever changing climatic conditions, coupled up with his deep interest in the growth and spiritual welfare of the church qualified him in a very special way for the position which he filled so faithfully for 20 years as superintendent. Because of his advancing years, Mr. Wagner is now retiring from his restless position as traveling superintendent, to a local pastorate in Listowel, Ontario. His farewell address to the North-west will be given on Saturday evening at this Conference session. Many old friends and acquaintances of long standing will surely want to share in this.

The conference program for Sunday is crowded with good things, i.e. religious information and inspiration. Everybody welcome.

We select on the principle that you first of all want the best meat you can get. So we handle only the choicest, as you will admit after a trial. The fact that we sell at poor meat prices make the trial quite easy and pleasantly economical.
